Di small compatibility in some models of Beta brand tools, the brass covers used in copper in presence of carbon dust generate the formation of sparks.
L'utente deve essere avvertito che il rischio di scintille può verificarsi in alcune situazioni.
This small metal tool should be used in contact with conductors or with devices that produce no sparks.
Attention: use must avoid the presence of the tool and from copper particles, especially in the presence of carbon.
